Course Description

INR 2002 COS-POLS 3(3,0) International Relations - Theory and Practice: PR: ENC 1102 or C.I. Analysis of the fundamental principles and factors affecting interstate relations and their application to contemporary global developments. Fall, Spring.

In this course we will examine the fundamental principles and factors affecting interstate relations and their application to contemporary global development. The class deals with two primary dimensions of international politics.

- The first covers important theories and concepts of international relations. This will be covered in (short) video lectures, and the required textbook. This book should be available at the UCF bookstore, Amazon or other sources.
- The second primary dimension of the class revolves around current issues in the current international settings. To stay on top of international events, today's practices, and problems, students are required to read international news stories available for free at yahoo.com. Pay close attention to recurring news and global happenings worldwide, including, but not limited to, wars, pandemics, climate change, global trade, and political and economic issues.

Course Assessment and Grading Procedure

Assignments and General Expectations

With the exception of the Academic Activity Quiz and Introduction Discussion Post, which are due on Friday at 11:59 pm for financial aid verification, all course assignments will be due on Sunday at 11:59pm.

Academic Activity Quiz and Introduction Discussion Post

All faculty members are required by UCF to document students' academic activity at the beginning of each course. In order to document that you began this course, you should complete the syllabus quiz and introduction discussion post by Friday, January 10 at 11:59pm. Failure to do so will result in a zero for the assignment and a possible delay in the disbursement of any financial aid.

Readings and Videos

Students are required to complete all readings and watch the videos weekly before the relevant assignment due date. They are important to understand concepts explained in the book. Students are also encouraged to think critically and understand how the class material finds application in the real world. Students are warmly encouraged to reach out to the instructor for any doubts concerning the material.

8 Weekly Quizzes throughout the semester: 20% of total (2.5% each)

Students are expected to complete weekly quizzes on the book chapters and short video lectures. All quizzes will be due on Sunday of each week by 11:59pm. Each quiz has 10 questions, and you will have 20 minutes to complete each quiz. The lowest quiz grade will be dropped at the end of the semester.

Two Current Events Quizzes: 10% of total (5% each)

Students will complete two current events quizzes. Students are expected to read the news every day and take notes on them (no questions on news released during Spring Break, Martin Luther King Jr Day or any other holiday when the university is closed). The questions will be based on news reported at yahoo.com on the World News page. Each quiz will have 25 questions, and you will have 40 minutes to complete each quiz.

Two Short Papers: 30% of total (15% each)

Each paper will be approximately 700 words (minimum 650 words, maximum 750 words). If you go over the word-count, you will have to re-write the paper to make the word limit and will receive a penalty of 5%.

Midterm Exam and Final Exam: 40% of total (20% each)

You can check the textbook and your notes during the exams but keep the timing in mind. Each exam will last 80 minutes.

The exams will include multiple choice questions on the course material and two short essay questions on the course material. There will also be some questions on current events on the exams.

The final exam will be cumulative. It will cover some material from prior to the midterm exam, but it will be much more heavily weighted to cover material following the midterm exam.

Ungraded Weekly Discussion Board

After reading the weekly material, please feel free to use the Weekly Discussion Board to:

- Ask clarifying questions
- Ask "provoking" yet polite questions to start a conversation with your peers
- Share what you have found interesting about the weekly material
- Reply to your peers’ questions about this module
- Comment on your peers' posts

This is not a graded assignment. I want to leave a space where students can freely share their ideas and ask questions without worrying about losing points. Again, there are no stupid questions, and not everything needs to be graded to be productive. The weekly discussion board is a great opportunity to interact with your peers, apply what you have learned during the module, and clarify your doubts before taking the quiz.

Policies for Course Grade

Makeup Work Policy and Missed/Late Assignments

Quizzes and assignments are due by dates outlined in the syllabus and may not be made-up unless they are missed for 1) a verifiable medical or funeral excuse, 2) a reason that is sufficiently verifiable, significant, and unexpected, or 3) an officially UCF excused absence (https://policies.ucf.edu/documents/4-401.pdf), such as an excused religious holiday(https://regulations.ucf.edu/chapter5/documents/5.020ReligiousObservancesFINALJan19.pdf) or a military deployment. Students who are deployed active-duty military and/or National Guard personnel and require accommodation should contact the instructor as soon as possible after the semester begins and/or after they receive notification of deployment to make related arrangements.

Make-up exams may be given without penalty in instances when students have an official UCF excuse or a reason that is sufficiently verifiable, significant, and unexpected. When no such excuse exists, students will be allowed to take exams late, but they will be penalized by 20 points “off-the-top.”

Late papers will be penalized 10% for each full calendar day they are late, up to as much as 30%, unless they meet the excused criteria in the paragraph above.

Please keep in mind that my policy of dropping the lowest quiz grade is designed to account for unforeseen problems that might arise and keep you from completing a quiz.

Attendance

While this class is fully online, you are expected to engage with the course material and watch the video lectures. The video lectures will be posted on Panopto, and completion of the video lectures will be tracked. You are expected to watch and take notes on all video lectures and course materials.

Course Accessibility

The University of Central Florida is committed to providing access and inclusion for all persons with disabilities. Students with disabilities who need access to course content due to course design limitations should contact the professor as soon as possible. Students should also connect with Student Accessibility Services (SAS) (Ferrell Commons 185, sas@ucf.edu, phone 407-823-2371). For students connected with SAS, a Course Accessibility Letter may be created and sent to professors, which informs faculty of potential course access and accommodations that might be necessary and reasonable. Determining reasonable access and accommodations requires consideration of the course design, course learning objectives and the individual academic and course barriers experienced by the student. Further conversation with SAS, faculty and the student may be warranted to ensure an accessible course experience.

Academic Integrity

Students should familiarize themselves with UCF's Code of Conduct at Student Conduct and Integrity Office. According to Section 1, "Academic Misconduct," students are prohibited from engaging in:

a. Academic misconduct is defined as any submitted work or behavior that obstructs the instructor of record's ability to accurately assess the student's understanding or completion of the course materials or degree requirements (e.g., assignment, quiz, and/or exam). Examples of academic misconduct include but are not limited to: plagiarism, unauthorized assistance to complete an academic exercise; unauthorized communication with others during an examination, course assignment, or project; falsifying or misrepresenting academic work; providing misleading information to create a personal advantage to complete course/degree requirements; or multiple submission(s) of academic work without permission of the instructor of record.

b. Any student who knowingly helps another violate academic behavior standards is also in violation of the standards.

c. Commercial Use of Academic Material. Selling of course material to another person and/or uploading course material to a third-party vendor without authorization or without the express written permission of the University and the instructor of record. Course materials include but are not limited to class notes, the instructor of record's slide deck, tests, quizzes, labs, instruction sheets, homework, study guides, and handouts.

d. Soliciting assistance with academic coursework and/or degree requirements. The solicitation of assistance with an assignment, lab, quiz, test, paper, etc., without authorization of the instructor of record or designee is prohibited. This includes but is not limited to asking for answers to a quiz, trading answers, or offering to pay another to complete an assignment. It is considered Academic Misconduct to solicit assistance with academic coursework and/or degree requirements, even if the solicitation did not yield actual assistance (for example, if there was no response to the solicitation).

Responses to Academic Dishonesty, Plagiarism, or Cheating

Students should also familiarize themselves with the procedures for academic misconduct in UCF's student handbook, The Golden Rule. UCF faculty members have a responsibility for students' education and the value of a UCF degree, and so seek to prevent unethical behavior and respond to academic misconduct when necessary. Penalties for violating rules, policies, and instructions within this course can range from a zero on the exercise to an "F" letter grade in the course. In addition, an Academic Misconduct report could be filed with the Office of Student Conduct and Academic Integrity, which could lead to disciplinary warning, disciplinary probation, or deferred suspension or separation from the University through suspension, dismissal, or expulsion with the addition of a "Z" designation on one's transcript.

Being found in violation of academic conduct standards could result in a student having to disclose such behavior on a graduate school application, being removed from a leadership position within a student organization, the recipient of scholarships, participation in University activities such as study abroad, internships, etc.

Let's avoid all of this by demonstrating values of honesty, trust, and integrity. No grade is worth compromising your integrity and moving your moral compass. Stay true to doing the right thing: take the zero, not a shortcut.

Title IX

Title IX prohibits sex discrimination, including sexual misconduct, sexual violence, sexual harassment, and retaliation. If you or someone you know has been harassed or assaulted, you can find resources available to support the victim, including confidential resources and information concerning reporting options at Let's Be Clear and UCF Cares.

For more information on diversity and inclusion, Title IX, accessibility, or UCF's complaint processes contact:

Reporting an Incident or Issue

If you believe you have experienced abusive or discriminatory behavior by any faculty or staff member, contact the Office of Institutional Equity online or at 407-823-1336. You can also choose to report using the UCF Integrity Line and can report anonymously or as yourself at 1-855-877-6049 or using the online form. UCF cares about you and takes every report seriously. For more information see the Reporting an Incident or Issue Webpage.

Deployed Active-Duty Military Students

Students who are deployed active duty military and/or National Guard personnel and require accommodation should contact their instructors as soon as possible after the semester begins and/or after they receive notification of deployment to make related arrangements.

Campus Safety

At UCF Public Safety and Police, safety is the top priority. Emergencies on campus are rare, but if one should arise, it's important to be familiar with some basic safety and security concepts.

- In an emergency, always dial 911.
- Every UCF classroom has an Emergency Procedure Guide posted on a wall near the door, which will show you how to respond to a variety of situations. This guide can also be found online here.
- In the event of an active threat, remember AVOID, DENY, DEFEND. Choose the best course of action and act immediately. Watch the video here to learn more.
    - AVOID. Pay attention to your surroundings and have an exit plan. Get as much distance and as many barriers between you and the threat as quickly as possible.
    - DENY. When avoiding is difficult or impossible, deny the threat access to you and your space. Lockdown by creating barriers, turning the lights off and remaining quiet and out of sight. Make sure your cell phone is silenced, but do not turn it off.
    - DEFEND. When you are unable to put distance between yourself and the threat, be prepared to protect yourself. Commit to your actions, be aggressive and do not fight fairly. Do whatever it takes to survive.
- For emergencies on campus, UCF will utilize the UCF Alert system. All UCF students, faculty and staff are automatically enrolled to receive these email and text alerts, however, it's a good idea to frequently ensure your contact information is up to date.

Financial Aid Accountability

All instructors/faculty are required to document students' academic activity at the beginning of each course. In order to document that you began this course, please complete this activity by the end of the first week of classes or as soon as possible after adding the course. Failure to do so may result in a delay in the disbursement of your financial aid.
