

SOCIOLOGY (B.S.)

Crime, Law & Deviance Track

College of Sciences | University of Central Florida

Available 100% Online

---

Interested in Crime, Justice, and Social Change?

Study crime through a sociological lens — and build real research skills that employers and graduate schools value.

What You'll Learn

- Why crime and deviance occur
- How law reflects inequality and power
- How justice systems operate
- Victimization and social policy
- Data-driven approaches to crime and public safety
- Complete an original research project before graduation

Degree Snapshot

- Total Degree Hours: 120
- Major Requirements: 60–61 credits
- Crime, Law & Deviance Electives: 21 credits
- Interdisciplinary Restricted Electives: 15 credits
- Capstone Research Course: 4 credits

Core Courses Include

- Applied Social Statistics
- Research Methods
- Social Power and Inequality
- Criminology

Career Pathways

- Law enforcement
  - Crime analysis & mapping
  - Victim advocacy
  - Legal services
  - Policy & government
  - Graduate and law school
-

Department of Sociology

Howard Phillips Hall (HPH 403)
407-823-3744 | sociology@ucf.edu
<https://sciences.ucf.edu/sociology/>

Program Director: Dr. Angela Vergara

Understand justice. Analyze inequality. Conduct research. Shape policy.