

An internship opportunity is available on the Walt Disney Parks & Resorts Decision Science team. The Decision Science team is comprised of approximately 20 experts in fields such as statistics, optimization, simulation, operations research, industrial engineering, econometrics and other analytical disciplines. Team members leverage advanced analytical tools to solve problems and develop revenue management and pricing business applications for parks, resorts, and other segments of The Walt Disney Company.

Decision Science interns have the opportunity to support one or more of the ongoing, innovative analytics projects, and interact with a variety of team members with different areas of expertise. This internship opportunity is from September 2013 through January 2014.

Learn more and apply before August 30 at:

<https://sjobs.brassring.com/tgwebhost/jobdetails.aspx?partnerid=25348&siteid=5039&jobid=130406>